Winnebago Public School host Back to School Powwow

AUGUST 16th, 2023 | WINNEBAGO, NEBRASKA | T.Snake

Winnebago Public School (WPS) hosted their 4th annual Back to School Powwow!! The weather was perfect, the festivities were held on the WPS football field.

Set up began early at 8am, WPS's Superintendent, Kamau Turner, started with opening remarks by welcoming everyone to the powwow celebration.

Opening prayer started at 11am with a meal to follow. United States Air Force Veteran and Truancy Officer, Randy DeCora blessed the meal. The meal was sponsored by the Winnebago Tribe's Education Department who brought in R-Eatz Catering from Winnebago, NE.

Dancer's registration was open till 12:45 pm. The schedule started with a HoChunk/Winnebago welcome song for all students. The exhibition categories were tiny tots, girls/women's and boys/men's dance categories. More songs were held for the Head Man Special, Head Woman special, teacher honor song, and the snake dance. Last but not least the teacher dance off (with judgement by crowd) 1st place was Destiny Shipman for the second year in a row! 2nd place was Superintendent Kamau Turner and 3rd Silas! Serving as the Host Drum was group Hu-Jop and singers: Kunu Dave Russel, VJ Wolfleader, Sam Beegs, Craig Cleveland Jr., Trey Blackhawk, Mel Frenchman and Blake Frenchman.

The Winnebago Veterans assisted with the grand entry and posting of the colors. Gordon Rave, US Army Commander, US Army Emily Whirlwind Soldier, US Army Wakaja Bigfire brought in the colors for the festivities.

Winnebago Public School's graduates of '96 & '89 MC's Silas Cleveland and Les Painter had their usual banter going, keeping everyone informed as well as entertained!

Tribal Council Member, Isaac Smith served as Arena Director. He expressed why this celebration is so important "to start off the school year with good and positive energy for the children and their families".

Headman Eugene DeCora Jr. led all the dancers and specialty dances.

Headwoman: Fiona Soap "Really enjoyed the powwow today, especially seeing all of my teachers and friends. I'm super thankful to have been asked to be a head dancer this year. It was nice seeing everyone come out and have a good time!". Both the headman and headlady are current students at WPS.

Powwow events concluded at 3pm to start WPS's open house. The new and returning students were able to check out their new classrooms and meet their teachers for the school year, for most this is a good way to ease into their new environments.

Editor's note:

Shout-out to Winnebago Public School, Project Launch, Educare of Winnebago, and the Veterans Association for hosting this Back to School Powwow, it is a great way to start the year off. We hope that everyone has a great school year and study hard!

COMMUNITY

SUICIDE IN INDIAN COUNTRY PART 32

Knowing how others made it through can help you learn new ways to recover from your own suicide attempt.

It's estimated that more than one million people attempt suicide each year in the United States, from all parts of society. In other words, you're not alone. However, it can be hard to know how other survivors recovered because suicide is a personal topic that often is not discussed openly and honestly. This can leave those affected feeling like they don't know where to turn.

Shame, dreading the reaction of others, or fear of being hospitalized are some of the reasons that prevent people from talking about suicide. This is unfortunate, because direct and open communication about suicide can help prevent people from acting on suicidal thoughts. Hopefully, reading about the experiences of other survivors will make it easier for you to talk about your own attempt, learn ways to keep yourself safe, know when to ask for help, and most importantly, find hope as you think about what happens next on your journey.

It's okay if you feel conflicting emotions right now. Other suicide attempt survivors know that what you're experiencing is normal. They understand that your concerns are real. Going on won't be easy, and finding a way to ease your emotional pain may be challenging, but this can be a time to start down a new path toward a better life—to start your journey toward help and hope.

Those who have recovered from a suicide attempt want you to know that:

You are not alone. You matter. Life can get better. It may be difficult, but the effort you invest in your recovery will be worth it.

Right now, moving forward may seem impossible. And while it probably won't be easy, many other survivors will tell you that they're glad they held on and worked for a better life. By taking a few steps now, and then a few more when you're ready, you can regain your strength.

Sometimes it can be helpful just to take a few steps forward, even when you don't feel like it. In fact, you might start to remember that others care about you. You might discover that suicide is not the only way to relieve your pain. You may find that your feelings will change, either on your own or by working with a counselor. You could wake up one day surprised to feel less pain than you do today.

"Life became like an endurance test. That's really how it felt. It felt like life was an endurance test for me. And making it to the next day and to the next day and to the next day was truly...it was just a fight for survival."

"It felt like there was still a hole inside of me, and I couldn't figure out why I had a lack of motivation to get out of bed, why I was randomly crying. So when I was 16, I was going to school with a mask on my face, acting and pretending as though I was really happy with things that were going on around me."

"I could not feel hope; I did not even care if things would get better; I was in pain and I wanted it to stop, period."

"I thought, well yeah, maybe, the family's better off without me. So the entire day this thought began to build and dwell and it escalated very quickly...and when the pain got real bad I was going to do what I needed to do, not thinking that they loved me."

JESUS OUR SAVIOR LUTHERAN OUTREACH

"Do not trust deceptive words"

"Reform your ways and your actions, and I will let you live in this place. Do not trust in deceptive words and say, 'This is the temple of YAHWEH, the temple of YAHWEH, the temple of YAHWEH' ' [Jeremiah 7:3-4 NIV]!"

The above words come from God's Sacred Word as spoken by YAHWEH, (the Name that Creator God had given to Moses). They were spoken in love and truth to those who had been deceived. They were words of WARNING to those who foolishly thought that they were God's chosen people and that they could get away with MURDER, among other things including stealing, sexual immorality and lying.

The above words apply also to those who are deceived into thinking that merely by attending an all night prayer service, or a sweat, or a mass, or a worship or divine service, that all is good between him or her and one's Creator. Many believe that no one should judge their ways and actions - including one's Creator. Do not trust in deceptive words.

YAHWEH continues, "If you really change your ways and your actions and deal with each other justly, if you do not oppress the alien, the fatherless or the widow and do not shed innocent blood in this place, and if you do not follow other gods to your own harm, then I will let you live in this place, in the land I gave your forefathers for ever and ever. But look, you are trusting in deceptive words that are worthless' [Jeremiah 7:5-8 NIV]."

Some promises of YAHWEH are conditional such as Him allowing the tribe of Israel to continue to live in the promised land. If you know the history of the tribe of Israel then you know that YAHWEH allowed them to be taken from their land. Can there be lessons learned here that apply to other tribal people?

Now take time to honestly reflect on your own life and your motives. Do you oppress those who don't speak your language, who have a different color of skin, or who are of a different tribe? Do you oppress or bully the fatherless - those whose father had died or is not around to protect or defend them? Do you oppress the elderly, especially the widow who has no husband to stand up for her?

Jesus, the Son of YAHWEH, is a friend to one and to all. Jesus spoke to the Samaritan woman who had not led a virtuous life, having been married to five men and was living with a man she was not married to, (one of our Vacation Bible school stories from John 4). This woman came to trust in Jesus as the Messiah (the Christ), God's promised 'anointed one.' Jesus would go on to suffer and die for her detestable ways, and not only her detestable ways and deeds but also yours and mine too. Jesus provided a way back to a good relationship to one's Creator through faith in his bloody sacrifice.

We return one more time to YAHWEH's words, "Will you steal and murder, commit adultery and perjury, burn incense to Baal and follow other gods you have not known, and then come and stand before me in this house, which bears my Name, and say, 'We are safe'—safe to do all these detestable things? Has this house, which bears my Name, become a den of robbers to you? But I have been watching! declares YAHWEH' [Jeremiah 7:9-11 NIV]."

YAHWEH reminds the men of the tribe of Judah on what basis He will judge them. His standard is based on His Ten Words, also known as the Ten Commandments. There is not one man, woman or child that has kept these commands perfectly. None, that is, except the Son of God, Jesus Christ. The Spirit of God brings one to faith in Jesus' saving work as he suffered and died on a cross for the sin of one and all.

Jesus sacrifice was acceptable by our Creator as he rose victoriously from the dead. You too can join him in victory through saving faith in Him. Then, by the power of the Spirit of God, one is able to amend or reform one's despicable and detestable ways and deeds.

Do not trust deceptive words, rather trust in the Word of Creator God!

SCREENAGERS NEXT CHAPTER

UNCOVERING SKILLS FOR STRESS RESILIENCE

Filmmaker and physician Delaney Ruston uses a personal lens and professional eye to help us all flip the script on stress, anxiety, and depression. We follow Delaney as she finds herself at a loss on how to help her own teens as they struggle with their emotional wellbeing. Ruston sets out to understand these challenges in our current screen-filled society, and how we as parents and schools empower teens to overcome mental health challenges and build emotional agility, communication savvy, and stress resilience.

We witness Delaney as she finds her way from ineffective parenting to much-improved strategies. We follow other personal stories of families from an array of backgrounds with a spectrum of emotional challenges. We also observe approaches in schools that provide strategies relevant beyond the classroom setting. Interwoven into the stories are surprising insights from brain researchers, psychologists, and thought-leaders that reveal evidence-based ways to support mental wellness among our youth. The impact of social media and screen time in general is incorporated in topics brought to our attention in Screenagers NEXT CHAPTER, how it may be impacting our teen's mental health, and what we can do to help support youth in the face of struggles.

When someone in your life attempts suicide or experiences suicidal thoughts, it can be difficult to know how to best support them. This program helps you make sense of the situation, and provides an understanding of suicide as a complex health issue.

Finding Hope gives participants practical guidance, tools, resources and encouragement to support the person who is struggling. It also provides participants with self-care strategies to use as they support their loved one.

Brand new training opportunity! For anyone 14 and older.
