Sweet Water Café Offers Bago New Twist

The new Sweet Water Café in the HoChunk Village has been open for business since Powwow time. Why is it finally in the WIN you may ask? Because we were waiting for them to get a sign, we finally gave up waiting. The Sweet Water Café in HoChunk Village is the second location for the new twist on the coffee business. The first location is in the HoChunk Centre in nearby Sioux City, Iowa. The Café specializes in beverages and light fare foods. Sweet Water opens at 7 am serving up your favorite Frappes, Lattes, Cappuccinos, Smoothies and a delicious menu of breakfast sandwiches, salads, peninis, muffins and killer daily special soups. The Café closes at 6 pm, you can find it at the unmarked door just across the street from the Dollar General Store on mainstreet HoChunk Village. Stop by and let Jaralyn, Jennifer, Tessa or Kryssa barista up your favorite concoction.

Winnebago Statue Garden a Tourist Stop

Just about anytime of the day during the Summer, you can find passers by Winnebago stopping by to visit the Winnebago Statue Garden. The Garden features the 12 clan statues of Winnebago Warriors, Chiefs and Holy men. The big Statue was commissioned in the mid-90's for display at the new WinnaVegas Casino by the Winnebago Tribal Council. The idea was to share with visitors a tidbit of our Winnebago culture & heritage in relationship with our Mother and Creation. Today the Statue stands as a monument of our Winnebago teachings and way of life.

Los Angeles cancels Columbus Day

Courtesy of LA Times, Joshua Rhett Miller • August 31, 2017

Columbus Day is no more in the nation's second-largest city.

The Los Angeles City Council voted 14-1 last Wednesday to officially mark the second Monday in October as Indigenous Peoples Day on the city's calendar — a day to commemorate "indigenous, aboriginal and native people." The day will remain a paid holiday for city employees, the Los Angeles Times reported.

The vote followed a contentious hearing, during which some Italian-Americans said the switch would eradicate a key portion of their history, while others argued that city lawmakers needed to "dismantle a state-sponsored celebration of genocide of indigenous peoples" and dismissed the idea of celebrating Indigenous Peoples Day on a different date altogether.

"To make us celebrate on any other day would be a further injustice," said Chrissie Castro, vice chairwoman of the Los Angeles City-County Native American Indian Commission.

Councilman Mitch O'Farrell, a member of Oklahoma's Wyandotte Nation tribe, had pushed for the change, saying Wednesday that the move would provide "restorative justice." In a blog post prior to the vote earlier this week, O'Farrell said the "historical record is unambiguous in documenting the horrors" Christopher Columbus and his men imposed on the native people in present-day Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Removing Columbus Day and replacing it with Indigenous Peoples Day is the appropriate action for this city to take," O'Farrell wrote. "We must send a signal to Washington D.C. that there is no better day to honor our original inhabitants while highlighting the absurdity of celebrating a historical figure responsible for such profound suffering, still felt by generations of Indigenous People everywhere. This is more than symbolic. It is spiritually and morally necessary."

Councilman Joe Buscaino, a first-generation Italian-American, suggested replacing Columbus Day with a new name to celebrate "all of the diverse cultures in the city" before being the lone city lawmaker to oppose the switch, asking fellow councilors not to "cure one offense with another."

With the change, Los Angeles joins a growing list of places that have already replaced Columbus Day — first recognized as a federal holiday in 1937 — with Indigenous Peoples Day, including Alaska, Vermont, Seattle, Albuquerque, San Francisco and Denver. Most recently, the Bangor City Council in Maine voted to rename the holiday, the Bangor Daily News reports.

Indianz.com... Liquor stores in Pine Ridge Reservation border town ask court for ruling to reopen

The Nebraska Supreme Court heard arguments in a landmark case affecting the sale of liquor in a town near the Pine Ridge Reservation.

Four stores in Whiteclay lost their liquor licenses in April after decades of complaints from officials of the Oglala Sioux Tribe, Native activists and some residents in the area. But the owners contend the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission's decision was illegal and they are asking the court for permission to reopen.

"The commission's decision in this case is so blatantly in violation of the statutes," attorney Andrew Snyder told the court on Tuesday morning, when arguments took place, The Omaha World-Herald reported.

Since the shutdown in the town, liquor sales have picked up in towns further from the reservation border, The Lincoln Journal Star reported earlier this month. The paper published an extensive report, Beyond Whiteclay, which looked at the impact of the closure on the Pine Ridge community, where alcohol abuse has contributed to social and law enforcement problems.

A decision in Kozal v. Nebraska Liquor Control Commission isn't expected for at least six weeks, The World-Herald reported. Audio and video of the argument will be posted on supremecourt.nebraska.gov.

Tribal Council Primaries

Blackhawk Community Center Gym

Thoughts from a Personality Test... By Lance Morgan

It must be election time because in the last two editions of the WIN, I have had people take a little shot at me or Ho-Chunk, Inc. One said the Tribal Council gave me personally the last two per capita payments meant for tribal members. It also said that a per capita payment was a right—a right, not an extra thing. The second one made a general comment about our real estate projects in Sioux City and questioned why would we do that when we need housing in Winnebago.

I have heard versions of both before and frankly such comments bug me, but I figured I would offer some additional insight. First, of course no one gave me your per capita payment. In fact, over the last 3 years Ho-Chunk, Inc. has contributed about $200,000 per month to the tribe in dividends and taxes. This doesn't take into account all the other good deeds we do in the community. So saying the guy working hard to put money into the tribal bank account is taking your per capita payment is in fact annoying to me. For the record, Ho-Chunk, Inc. gives out pay checks, not per capita checks.

However, the tribe did allow Ho-Chunk, Inc. to retain 30 percent of its dividend, to build 100 houses and the infrastructure for 100 more. Ho-Chunk, Inc. has built or purchased over 150 housing units in the last 15 years. In the last two years, we have built 50 housing units. This is the fastest pace of growth in housing in our modern history, which leads me to the second critique about building stuff in Sioux City.

It is a simple criticism to tie what we do in Sioux City to Winnebago, but it really isn't a fair comparison. We are building those projects purely to make money and charge market level rents designed to maximize income to the tribe. In Winnebago, we use the profits made in Sioux City to fund purchasing land to expand our town, fund down payment assistance for tribal members, and supplement the construction of new apartments and townhouses so people can have affordable housing.

Maybe I am too close to it, but do people really just think a magic wand is waived and new high quality housing magically appears. It takes years of work and lots of time and effort in planning, getting the funding and getting them built. The housing problems are real in our community, but so is the progress we have been making and criticizing the hard work on the people trying to make it happen is counter-productive.

I took a personality test a few years ago and it said I craved acknowledgement or getting credit for things. I said at the time then I am working in the wrong place! But I realize that I do get credit for things all the time. However, it is just for things I didn't actually do like taking per capita payments, plotting to hurt tribal housing, being mean to children, not liking dogs, jay walking, elder abuse, being stingy, stealing money, only hiring non-Indians, and any other thing you can imagine.

I get it. I am a public figure in our community and put myself out there all the time and expect some push back. I usually ignore it, but that makes me an easy target too, especially around election time. I understand that poverty leads to anger and frustration, but getting out of it is hard work and it won't be done by complaining.

I am an optimist or I wouldn't be working here and I keep thinking that at some point, our people will all be so successful that the problems of poverty will begin to fade. I think we are well on that path. I know I need to focus on the long-term plan, but it is tough in the short term to get credit for so many things, I don't actually do. Football Season is here. Go Bago and Go Big Red!

JESUS OUR SAVIOR LUTHERAN OUTREACH

Pastor Ricky Jacob

"Live by the Spirit"

Have you ever taken the time to stop and think why you do the things that you do? Do you ever wonder if you allowed the Holy Spirit to lead you what a difference this would make? Do you even think that it is possible for you to let go and let God's Spirit be in the driver's seat?

You have been tricked into thinking that you have freedom when you let go and live life doing whatever comes to mind. You allow your tongue to say whatever comes to mind. You curse, you lie, you slander, you gossip, you make fun of others and in reality you have lost control. Even when you attempt to curb some of your words you simply can't help yourself.

If you reason that you can live life your way and still have a place reserved for you in the new heavens on the new earth then you have been deceived. The truth is that you can not live like hell and still expect heaven too.

The apostle Paul wrote to the Christian churches of Galatia these words: 'I say, walk by the Spirit and you will certainly not satisfy the desire of the flesh. For the flesh desires what is contrary to the Spirit, and the Spirit desires what is contrary to the flesh; for these are in opposition to one another in order that you do not do the things you want. But if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the Law.' [Galatians 5:16-18]

What a mystery it is to have freedom from the Law by walking with or living guided by the Spirit. The Law of God, His demands can never be met by you, not even close, no matter how hard you try. The Law of God can only let you know that you have once again failed.

You are not holy. You are not sacred by your own actions. Your sinful flesh, your sinful nature opposes the Spirit of God. Paul goes on to give examples of the ways of one's sinful nature: 'Now the works of the flesh are obvious, which are sexual immorality, impurity, indecency, idolatry, sorcery, enmities, strife, jealousy, rage, selfishness, dissensions, factions, envy, drunkenness, carousing, and such things as these, concerning which I am warning you, just as I said before, that those who do such things will not inherit the kingdom of God.' [Galatians 5:19-21]

You are guilty of doing such things. The danger is that if you continue to live life according to the freedom of your sinful nature you will not live with God forever and ever. Lord have mercy!

But the good news is that there is another way. By the grace of God you allow God's Spirit to enter into you heart. You allow God's Spirit to speak to you through His Sacred Word. You allow the Spirit that Jesus promised to send, to bring you to trust in the suffering, death and resurrection in Jesus. You allow Jesus to take your place on the cross in order to set you free from your sinful nature. You allow the Spirit of God to assist you in crucifying your self-centered ways.

Once again we turn to what Paul wrote to the churches of Galatia: 'The fruit of the Spirit, however, is love, joy, peace, forbearance, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. The Law is not opposed to such things. Now those of Christ [Jesus] crucified the flesh with its passions and desires. If we live by the Spirit, then by the Spirit let us also walk. Let us not become conceited, provoking one another, envying one another.' [Galatians 5:22-26]

The life of one who lives by the Spirit is a blessing to that person as well as to all those around him or her. What a difference the power of God's Spirit is, in this life and in the one to come!

You are invited to be led by the Spirit of God at Jesus Our Savior Lutheran Church and Preschool. Bible study and Sunday school at 10 a.m. followed by Divine Service at 11. "To Show Law on Per Cap by IRS"

Per Capita payments from trust funds held by the Department of the Interior.

The Department of the Treasury and IRS issued final guidance regarding Per Capita distributions made to members of Indian tribes from funds held in trust by the Secretary of the Interior. In response to feedback from tribal nations, the guidance clarifies that, generally, these Per Capita payments will not be subject to federal income tax.

The final guidance provides an exception to the general rule where taxable income is mischaracterized as non-taxable income.

W.H.D.C. Tenant Reminders

Kids are back in school...yay! Please watch out for children going to and from school at crosswalks. Teach your children "Stranger Danger" as many of our little ones tend to be naturally friendly. Remember to allow your young children plenty of rest to be able to be alert in the morning and ready to learn. Kids from 3 to 5 years old need at least ten (10) hours of continuous sleep and older children need eight (8) hours. Let's get them back into the routine!

Down here at the W.H.D.C. offices, we have done a little landscaping that included rocks as part of the flower bedding. Several mornings we have come into work to find these rocks thrown all over the parking area as well as around the units in Rainbow. We are urging parents/guardians to keep your children from vandalizing the area. It is an effort to keep the area beautiful for our tenants & visitors to our offices, and damages are costly. We have policies that state it is our right to bill any parties that have been proved responsible for such vandalism, whether it be your children or "guests" to your household, you are responsible. Please help us keep your neighborhoods clean & safe.

The Resident Services department will be hosting a "Fire Escape Plan Contest" beginning on Tuesday, September 19, 2017. 2nd planning meeting will be on Tuesday, September 26, 2017 and final evening will be on October 3, 2017 where plans will be executed and timed to determine the winner. The Winnebago Housing & Development Commission has 80 two-story units and most likely have young children living in the home. It is our intention to assist our tenants in safe practices and possibly save lives through this type of education. For more details on the contest call Dawn Snake at the Housing Office. Also keep an eye open for more updates in the next issue of the W.I.N.

Finally, we would like to acknowledge our Summer Youth workers, Aleah Huffman & Angelo Suarez. Aleah is 16 yrs old, this year a junior in high school and has been a member of the "Academy" program @ WPS since it's inception. Aleah is the daughter of Laura "Tootie" Huffman & the granddaughter of the late Fritz Huffman. This was Aleah's first summer working with Housing. Resident Services requested a worker old enough to operate weed whackers & mowers, strong enough to do outside work, and Aleah was a great help in getting our senior complex area cleaned up and looking wonderful! We cut up dead trees, hauled debris, cleaned up overcrowded storage areas, cut trees growing in window wells, cleaned curbsides of overgrown weeds, painted and assisted several tenants with household chores. Aleah was helpful, friendly and a pleasure to work with. We worked many hours out in the sun, but also worked in the office. Aleah made up informational packets for the tenants, did some much needed filing and assisted with some office rearranging as well as other chores for different departments.

Angelo Suarez worked for "Housing" several summers in the maintenance department. His parents are Saralee "Cupcake" Suarez & Jorge Suarez. Angelo was busy with "the guys" outside most of the time helping with grounds keeping, water breaks, work orders and got experience learning concrete work. He was a huge asset to our already overworked maintenance crew. Angelo graduated this past school year from Winnebago Public School and the "Buffet Scholarship" and is attending college @ University of Nebraska in Lincoln.

All the staff @ the WHDC appreciate all the hard work and willingness these two youth displayed. We wish them well in all their endeavors!

As always, feel free to call our offices for any concerns with your unit at (402) 878-2241 between the hours of 8:00 am to 4:30 pm Monday through Friday. After hours Emergencies call the On-call # (402) 922-3099.

From the desk of the Winnebago Air Quality Program

ASTHMA TRIGGERS

As I conduct outreach in our community, talking to people about air quality issues, one of the surprising things I've learned, is that we have a lot of people, young and old, who are dealing with asthma. In my own family, I started paying attention to asthma, when one of my own sons was diagnosed with it, and I had to make some important changes in our life, to reduce the "triggers" that cause an asthma attack.

First, let's define what "triggers" are. Certain things cause asthma "attacks" or make asthma worse. These are called triggers. Some common triggers are

- Things you might be allergic to. These are called allergens. (Most people with asthma have allergies, and allergies are a major cause of asthma symptoms)
- House dust mites
- Animal dander
- Cockroaches
- Mold
- Pollens
- Infections of the airways
- Viral infections of the nose and throat

- Other infections, such as pneumonia or sinus infections
- Irritants in the environment (outside or indoor air you breathe)
- Cigarette and other smoke
- Air pollution
- Cold air, dry air
- Odors, fragrances, volatile organic compounds in sprays, and cleaning products

Exercise (about 80% of people with asthma develop wheezing, coughing, and a tight feeling in the chest when they exercise)

Stress
It's important to check all the environments you live in, such as home, work, school, day care, relatives' homes etc. for exposure to these environments.

Avoiding Triggers
Here are some things you can do to reduce your exposure to triggers. Do not smoke in your home or car.

Reduce exposure to dust mites. The most effective things to do are to cover your mattress and pillow with allergy-proof encasings. Wash bedding in hot water every week, and vacuum and dust frequently.

Reduce humidity in the home with a dehumidifier or remove carpeting. Bedrooms in basements should not be carpeted.

If allergic to furry pets, remove them from your home.

Reduce cockroach infestation by setting roach traps, repairing holes in walls and entry points, and avoid leaving food or garbage exposed. Be careful about bringing in cardboard boxes of food from food pantry's. Remove cans and food items outside, and throw away the box, s. Cockroaches like to hide in the seams of the cardboard boxes.

Mold in homes is often due to excessive moisture, leaky roofs, leaking pipes or excessive humidity. Control indoor humidity by using fans in the bathroom and kitchen, and adding a dehumidifier in areas with high humidity.

Pollen exposure can be reduced by using an air conditioner in your home, and keeping doors and windows closed during high pollen times.

Check air quality reports in weather forecasts or on the internet. When air quality is poor, try to stay indoors and follow your doctor's recommendations.

Asthma can reduce the quality of life, and prevent people from enjoying normal activities. By making even small changes, it can have a huge impact on sufferers. The Winnebago Environmental Protection Department Air Quality Program is here to help the community with indoor and outdoor air quality issues. Please feel free to stop by if you need any further information on ways to combat asthma, or any air quality questions you might have. You can reach me at;

Masthead Scene

The St. Augustine's Buffalo Pasture has been a hotspot this Summer for traffic passing through the Winnebago Reservation. The turnout is the place for the State Historical Marker for the Company "A" Fort Omaha Scouts, 34th Nebraska Volunteers. The marker used to be at the base of Hatchett's hill near the Winnebago Cemetery. The site is now home to the Winnebago Tribe's buffalo and informational markers explaining the importance of the buffalo to Native Culture.

BUILDING THE BEST RURAL COMMUNITY IN NEBRASKA

That is the dream for Ho-Chunk Village and the Winnebago community. With the initial phase of Ho-Chunk Village nearing capacity, Ho-Chunk, Inc. has purchased an additional 40 acres to expand Ho-Chunk Village to help accommodate the continuing housing needs in Winnebago.

Initial plans for the 40-acre development will include a mixture of:

- > Single-family Homes
- > Townhomes
- > Senior Housing
- > Apartments
- > Mixed Use Space
- > Retail and Commercial Space

Lance Morgan, President and CEO of Ho-Chunk, Inc. said, "There are 150 people on the waiting list for housing in our community. Ho-Chunk Village 2.0 will go a long way to addressing the consistent housing needs we have here on the Reservation. We want to create a variety of quality housing options for seniors, lower income families, individuals and our emerging middle class families."

Morgan said "Ho-Chunk Village 2.0 is still in the concept stage. During the planning stages of the original Ho-Chunk Village we had a series of meetings in the community to gather input and we intend to do something similar with this development."

The anticipated Ho-Chunk Village 2.0 development timeline:

- > Land Survey - Currently Underway
- > Design Process and Community Input Winter 2017-18
- > Phase 1 of Infrastructure Development Summer of 2018
- > Building Construction - To Be Determined

"I don't just want a good reservation community... I want Winnebago to be the best rural community in Nebraska. By developing a quality mix of housing, retail and commercial opportunities, we will positively grow Winnebago and offer the services people look for in a community. We want Winnebago to be a place Tribal members want to stay in to raise their families...and be a place they are proud to call home," said Morgan.

This will be a 10-year project, completed in phases based upon input, infrastructure work, and demand.

For ongoing information about the Ho-Chunk Village 2.0 development, please visit our website www.hochunkinc.com or our Facebook page.
