Indianz.com... New law and policy firm boasts majority ownership by Native women

That makes us unique in Indian Country'

Big Fire Law and Policy Group is 100% Native owned
By Kevin Abourezk

Harold Big Fire was a fighter, a boxer. But when a car accident stole his left arm, the Winnebago father had to find another way to support his family. So he became a heavy equipment operator.

"I mean, who drives heavy equipment with one arm? He did," said Lance Morgan, president and CEO of Ho-Chunk Inc., the Winnebago Tribe's economic development corporation.

Recently, Morgan began searching for names for a new law firm he planned to launch, and he said he couldn't think of a better one than his grandfather's. "He pretty much was the toughest guy I knew in my life, and I like the idea of honoring his name and his image and especially on something that hopefully creates some permanence in Indian Country."

On Monday, Morgan and seven other attorneys launched the Big Fire Law and Policy Group, a new law firm borne out of Morgan's former legal partnership - Fredericks, Peebles and Morgan - which Morgan and several of Big Fire's attorneys recently left.

Big Fire's six partners are Morgan, Leonika Charging, Sheila Corbine, Nicole Ducheneaux, Burton Warrington and Danelle Smith. Two other attorneys, Joseph V. Messineo and Michael Novotny, join the firm as senior associate and associate, respectively.

With four of its six partners being women, Big Fire is one of the first law firms in the country owned by a majority of Native women.

"That makes us unique in Indian Country," Morgan said.

Charging, a citizen of the Mandan, Hidatsa and Arikara Nation, said she's hopeful Big Fire will serve as a shield for Indian Country, representing tribes, tribal organizations, Alaska Native corporations and tribal gaming enterprises, among others.

She said she decided to become a lawyer after seeing the impact of the Pick-Sloan Missouri Basin Program on her tribe in North Dakota.

The federal flood control project flooded much of the productive land on the Fort Berthold Reservation, as well as the homes and lands of hundreds of tribal families. Charging said she understood then that her people, and all Native people, needed competent attorneys to protect their interests from public and private encroachment.

She said a Native-owned law firm brings expertise to Native law issues that non-Native-owned law firms can't by being able to understand the challenges facing tribes.

And Charging said she's particularly gratified to be able to work for a law firm that appreciates the value of diversity within its ranks. She said many law firms simply aren't concerned with understanding why so few women serve

WINNEBAGO HOUSING AND DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION – Updates

Community Clean-Up usually comes up in April. We have not heard a date yet. But everyone should be getting ready for it Sort out: 1. What goes in the trash/dumpster. 2. What goes to Salvation Army. 3. What goes into a Yard Sale. Expert Organizers recommend this kind of sorting. If it's been broken for 6 months and you haven't fixed it, throw it away! If you haven't worn it in 6 months, give it to Salvation Army. Pet Care – Clean up your animal's poop. It is unhealthy for children to play anywhere around the house where there is poop lying there for days. If no one in the household is going to be responsible for this chore, give the animal to a shelter. Easter – On a happy note: Easter happens on April 21 this year. Everyone at the WHDC wishes you and your family a Blessed Easter.

BAGO GROWS

Hey all of you new gardeners, I know that most of you aren't too familiar with gardening. I am not your most experienced gardener either. I've had Raised Garden Beds in my backyard for the past 3 years and I really enjoy tending my plants, pulling weeds, watering, fertilizing, pruning, watching them grow into ripe vegetables, harvesting, consuming, storing, sharing, trading, discussing best practices, getting my grandkids involved and the list goes on. We are all going to be on a learning curve regarding growing our own garden vegetables. If you have access to the internet, you can find anything about gardening, frost dates, harvesting, canning, drying, freezing, preserving seeds, recipes, making jams and jellies, salsa and other information that will help you to be a successful gardener. The best place I found is the Farmers' Almanac website but there are countless others. If I don't know the answer, I go online to find many locations and sources of information that is helpful.

Our Farmers' Market will be open in June. This will be a gathering place for our community members to sell their produce and other items, share best practices, visit, trade and barter and will be a pleasant environment for vendors and customers. You will be able to bring just about anything you want to sell. It doesn't just have to be vegetables.

Although we have 64 new applicants for Bago Grows this year, we want last year's growers to continue gardening. We know that some didn't have the time nor assistance to assemble their RGBs and some had "soil issues". Approximately around April 10, we will have rich compost delivered which we will mix with high quality top soil and make it available to community members. If you need seeds for this year, please contact Vince Bass at 402-878-2192 or vbass@hccdc.org. If you truly need help with assembly, I will be willing to assist, just contact me. We want everyone to be successful and to continue planting a garden every year.

The Bago Grows Program has begun contacting our 2019 applicants to inquire what type of seeds they want and when would be a good time for them to pick up their Raised Garden Beds (RGBs). So, please contact me to inform me of that info. The RGBs are easy to set up. For those that cannot pick up their RGB, seeds and soil, I need to know and we can arrange for transport and assembly of their RGB, fill with rich dirt and deliver your seeds. Most seeds should be started indoors now, then transplanted after our last frost. If you read up a little about the kind of seeds you have, you will be much more successful. For our People to understand how to plant, we should try to start our plants from seeds indoors. Yes, we can go to Walmart or other distributor to buy starter plants but that doesn't teach us how to grow from seed. If your seed planting attempts are not successful, then we might want to consider purchasing starter plants. Again, let's try to get our children and grandchildren involved. After all, they are our future and they can teach their children about food sovereignty and how to take care of themselves.

For those that would like a larger garden, we are attempting a Community Garden where you can get your own 10'x20' garden plot. The only thing is that the Community Garden is out to the proposed Chicken Ranch, 4 miles southwest of Bago. Please contact Aaron LaPointe or Vince Bass if you would like to do that and we will "issue" you a garden plot at that location. There is an on-site Caretaker living at the house at the "Ranch" to monitor and help maintain the Comm. Garden and Ranch property. We are looking for land to re-locate our Community Garden in town and we have a few ideas. Also, if someone has room in their yard for a garden, we can have that area tilled up and incorporate compost for fertilizer. Again, contact Aaron, Vince or Janyce Woodard/LPTC Extension.

I would say good luck but there is no luck involved, just good knowledgeable practices that will yield the best quality produce for your garden. Contact me with any questions, but again, I encourage you to visit the various online resources for scientific growing practices and advice. "Keep on Growing!" and "Just Grow It!"

JESUS OUR SAVIOR LUTHERAN OUTREACH

Pastor Ricky Jacob

"Come Lord Jesus be our guest"

These words are from a table prayer that I was taught growing up. "Come Lord Jesus be our guest and let thy gifts to us be blessed!" I wonder if you invite Jesus to be your guest at your meals? Do you lead your family to thank your Creator for the food that you are about to eat?

I wonder if you parents have taught your children to offer a word of thanks and praise for your daily bread. One of the petitions that Jesus gave to his students/disciples was: 'and give us this day our daily bread.' It should be noted that Jesus did not teach one to ask for a week's worth of bread or a month's worth. Jesus did not teach us to pray for a jack pot, or to win the lottery.

So what did Jesus mean when he taught: 'and give us this day our daily bread.' Dr. Martin Luther taught that the head of the household should first explain these words in this way: 'God certainly gives daily bread to everyone without our prayers, even to all evil people, but we pray in this petition that God would lead us to realize this and to receive our daily bread with thanksgiving.'

Teaching a child to say 'thank you' is necessary. A Winnebago elder shared with me that certain employees need to be taught these simple words 'thank you.' How much more should a parent teach a child to offer a word of thanksgiving to God!

It is only natural that we take God for granted. We have come to expect, even demand, that God give to us. Like the McDonald's slogan of the past: 'You deserve a break today!' A child often makes demands of his/her parent. Foolishly, the parent often gives in and begins to reward selfish behavior.

When one does something 'good' or 'honorable' he/she usually expects something 'good' in return. A pat on the back or a smile will not be sufficient. Some have come to expect weekly allowances without completing their weekly chores. Others have come to expect an annual bonus or clothing vouchers even when they either do not deserve one or will misuse such funds.

Getting back to this petition: 'and give us this day our daily bread,' what is meant by the words 'daily bread?' Luther explained them in this way: 'Daily bread includes everything that has to do with the support and needs of the body, such as food, drink, clothing, shoes, house, home, land, animals, money, goods, a devout husband or wife, devout children, devout workers, devout and faithful rulers, good government, good weather, peace, health self-control, good reputation, good friends, faithful neighbors, and the like.'

You will note the word 'devout.' 'Devout' means someone who is devoted, faithful, honest, caring, and loving. As one prays for others to be devout, then one would think that this should begin with oneself. One should be devout not based on what his/her partner, parent, worker, or ruler does, but taking up one's own responsibility and honoring God with one's life.

Now, it is not necessary to list each and every need. 'Daily bread' sums them up. This does not mean that we do not need to request specific items such as being accepted into a college/university; or being hired, or to be blessed with a mate or a child.

And finally, I wonder if you have welcomed Jesus into your home. Each week Jesus invites you to be his guest at one of his houses on earth and be blessed through the hearing of His Sacred Word. It is there at God's house that he provides spiritual food and spiritual blessings that you will not find anywhere else. The devout family of God comes together to support one another, care for one another, pray for one another. The devout family of God receives the Sacred Word of God and His Sacraments.

Jesus was all about being in His Father's house. His earthly father was in the habit of leading his family to Jerusalem for the annual Sacred feasts as set down by Creator God. So why in the world would you not accept Jesus' gracious invitation to be his guest?

Twelve Clans Unity Hospital Now Offers eCARE Specialty Clinic

Winnebago, NE - April 4, 2019 – Twelve Clans Unity Hospital announces the addition of Avera eCARE® Specialty Clinic, a virtual health service that allows patients to see medical specialists without traveling outside of Winnebago.

Avera eCARE Specialty Clinic provides additional specialty care with virtual visits that may be conducted on-demand or by scheduling an appointment via two-way audio and visual equipment. This is in addition to other Avera eCARE services offered in Winnebago, including Emergency.

"We're excited that patients in and near Winnebago now have better access to specialty medical care. In the past, people have often had to drive long distances to see medical specialists. Now, they can have a specialty appointment right in our home community," said Danelle Smith, CEO. "Local providers receive a summary of all Specialty Clinic visits, so they know what's happening with their patients, and can offer any follow-up care that's needed."

Through this partnership with eCARE, patients will benefit from local access to specialists in: Rheumatology, Behavioral Health, Endocrinology, Internal Medicine, Wound Care and Gastroenterology. eCARE Specialty Clinic is a medical-appointment that happens via telehealth. On a TV monitor, patients will see and talk to providers and nurses. Like other medical appointments, patients check in at the clinic. A local clinic staff member is on hand as needed to make the connection and operate the equipment. All aspects of the appointment are private, secure and confidential.

Avera has over 25 years of experience in telehealth and the eCARE model is recognized nationally and internationally. Avera eCARE serves 400+ sites in 20 states. eCARE has saved more than $300 million in health care costs over the past decade, and has served more than 2 million patients.

"We look forward to partnering with staff at Twelve Clans Unity Hospital to assist in delivering specialty care closer to home. eCARE couples sophisticated technology with a spirit of collaboration and partnership – all with the goal of improving access to quality health care," said Deanna Larson, CEO of Avera eCARE.

Twelve Clans Unity Hospital patients who are interested in scheduling a Specialty Clinic visit with a specialist should visit with their local provider. Twelve Clans Unity Hospital can be reached by calling 402-878-2231.

as partners or supervisors within their organizations.

"We're beyond that," she said of Big Fire. "We're built on a foundation of diversity. We're built on a foundation of gender equity, pay equity and providing opportunity for attorneys of color."

Morgan said Big Fire plans to add three more attorneys, making it one of the larger law firms in the country practicing Indian law. And unlike many of those large law firms, which don't usually focus on Native law, Big Fire's primary mission will be to serve its Native clients.

He said an explosion of economic development in Indian Country has provided greater opportunity and need for Native attorneys to protect tribal interests. He said his goal is to create the largest Native-owned law firm in the country within the next five to 10 years. "We want to create the 800-pound gorilla in our world, and we want it to be Native-controlled," Morgan said.

He said the firm's attorneys bring with them valuable life experiences, having served as tribal judges, tribal economic development executives and elected tribal leaders.

Among them is Warrington, a citizen of the Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation, who served for five years as the CEO of his tribe's economic development corporation.

Warrington said his experiences inform his approach to Native legal issues and inspire him to continue seeking to protect tribal interests.

"Because of our ancestors, we're here now, and it's on our shoulders to keep this fight up in a little different way," he said.

"For us, it's being attorneys and contributing to the preservation and advancement of our tribal rights."

Setting the table for Nativepreneurs

In June 2016, I was in Shakopee, Minnesota for a meeting with Tribal Nations and I was traveling back and decided to check out the Biggest Candy Store in Minnesota. I ended up buying a bag of skittles, but regardless I walked through and was amazed at this little Tourist Trap. What I found out was it was more of a flea market with all sorts with individually made products and local value added produce. Homemade candies, apple pies, preserves, salsas, scented candles, it was refreshing to see all the salesmanship and marketing efforts made by the small business owners in the area.

With that said this is a very exciting time for Winnebago as a venue is being built for you to showcase your talents as a gardener, a baker of goods, inventor, or an artist with beadwork and sewing. Eco-Tourism is huge industry in the state of Nebraska and the increased traffic with a great marketing campaign will create a tremendous opportunity to start your own business. The best part is this community has a resources to provide the technical assistance to initiate, support and possibly finance your endeavor through Ho

Chunk Community Capital, a certified Tribal CDFI.

The following is step by step process to starting a business from the Nebraska Secretary of State website. If you have a great idea and the motivation to be a Nativepreneur, take the first step! Will do all we can to support you on the way. I can be reached at the Woodland Trails Building at 402-878-2192 or by email at twood@hccdc.org.

Personally I can't wait for the farmers market this summer to see all my fellow innovative natives and especially those homemade wobo-kitty pans... with just a pinch of bacon grease for more flavor! Pinigigi!

Halfway House Replacement Project
The Winnebago Tribe has been working on replacement of the existing halfway house building for the past several years. We have submitted applications for grants including ICDBG in the past few years. This fall the Winnebago Tribe was awarded $1.0m from U.S. Department of Justice to assist with the replacement of the existing building. The building replacement project has been estimated at approx. $ 1.8 million. We have received statements of qualifications from 6 architectural firms interested in this project.

The tribe may want to consider if this is a high enough priority to commit to and move forward with the design while funding collection efforts are on-going.

WTN Senior & Emergency Housing Projects

We have several Senior Housing and Emergency Housing projects that we have been working on this winter. It has been more difficult and time consuming since the Housing Director has moved on to another position within the WTN. We will continue to review applications and coordinate repairs and improvements such as furnaces, windows, siding roofing replacements and other home repairs. Funding by Tribal Appropriations and USDA

BIA Indian Reservation Roads Program Projects

We have several roads projects we will need to prioritize for this season. I am listing below several projects that we have listed in our recent 2019 Transportation Improvement Plan (TIP).

BIA Route 52 Paving along the south side of HoChunk Village to Donnie Snowballs

Fema Trailer Road Paving of Route 17 Paving

Sheridan Drive Patch Mill and Asphalt Overlay

Armell Bridge Project

BIA is working with finishing Environmental Review with the Army Corps of Engineers. Project plans are complete and BIA has this project tentatively to be started his fall 2019. Scheduled for 2020 Completion Approx Cost $1.2m BIA Bridge Program Funding

Other Projects
Winnebago Building Code Requirements have not been updated for the past several years. I have been in communication with several architects, Nebraska Fire Marshalls Office, Nebraska Electrical Inspectors Office and City of South Sioux City Building Inspectors regarding the continual updating of our local building codes. Based on these conversations I am proposing for the Winnebago Tribe of Nebraska to update Building Codes as shown on the Attached sheet and to automatically update to any future State of Nebraska Code updates. These are the current codes enforced in the State of Nebraska for other small communities.

Winnavegas Flood Prevention:
Construction Management Program continues to monitor Missouri River flood threat potential at Winnavegas. Byron Walker is performing a topographic survey around the perimeter of Wvegas improvements to assist with preliminary planning for alignment of a proposed permanent flood control berm. Construction Management is working with IDNR regarding floodplain permitting for this potential project and will be soliciting proposals for construction of the proposed flood prevention improvements.

Winnebago Public School Calls on Congress to Support Our School

Winnebago, NE—March, 17-19
 Superintendent Dan Fehringer, Principal/Activities Director Adam James, Board Member Marian Holstein, and Board Member VJ WolfLeader recently attended the National Association of Federally Impacted Schools (NAFIS) Spring Conference. We met with staffers of Congressman Jeff Fortenberry, Congressman Adrian Smith, Congressman Don Bacon, Senator Benn Sasse and Senator Deb Fischer to call attention to the needs of area schools and the importance of Impact Aid to Winnebago Public Schools
 WPS representatives' joined school district leaders from Federally Impacted Land across the United States to discuss and advocate for Impact Aid. Impact Aid is an essential program that provides funding to federally impacted school districts like WPS. Impact Aid funds these school districts for the loss of revenue caused by the presence of nontaxable federal property. It helps ensure students who attend schools on or near such property have access to a quality education.
 Board members and Superintendents from Santee, Macy and Walthill joined the delegation from Winnebago to share the crucial role Impact Aid plays for our schools. The need for infrastructure upgrades, and meeting the budget needs were discussed as well as sharing the achievements and programs we offer that have increased achievements of our students.
 "Without Impact Aid, we wouldn't be able to effectively serve our students," Dan Fehringer of WPS. "Impact Aid funds are used for new construction, employee salaries, school programs and much, much more. This funding is critical to providing our students the opportunities they need to maximize their potential, so it is important for us to travel to Washington and advocate directly to Congress for it."
 During the three-day conference, school district representatives received updates on Impact Aid from the U.S. Department of Education. In addition, they heard from national experts on a number of important education issues, including teacher retention, school safety and career-technical education. "Every student who attends WPS benefits from Impact Aid," continued Fehringer. "It is a program that our school district will continue to fight for."

Josephine Wolfleader of Nebraska Diamond went 6-3 and is Copper All-American Winnebago's Josephine WolfLeader has had a pretty exciting 8th grade season for Jr. High Wrestling. She wrestled the entire 2019 Jr. High Season and never lost. She took her talents to the AAU State met to see how she would do against the entire state of girls at 160. She took care of business at AAU State becoming a State Champion, which qualified her for the K-8 Nebraska National Dual Team that would go to the Twin River National Duals in Des Moines, IA March 29-31. Josephine as a member of the Nebraska Diamond Team went 6-3 on the weekend and earned some great experience on the mat. "One of the greatest things about Josephine is she is coachable during a match, Coach Tranmer stated. She listens to her coaches and does what they tell her to do." One of the disadvantages Josephine had is she didn't wrestle last year. That disadvantage didn't affect her though she battle hard and with only losing 3 matches she became the 1st Jr High wrestler to be named to the All American Wall in the Winnebago Wrestling room. "If you are undefeated you are Gold All American, lose 1 you are Silver, 2 Bronze and 3 you are Copper. This is great for wrestling here at Winnebago. Many kids look up to these young athletes and want to be like them so when we have a girl like Josephine winning and coming home with All American status it really helps the program," Tranmer said.
